Your ADMIN wish to point out that, on this site the attached video resources are normally stored on the server. Other sites may simply provide external links to such resources. The importance of the material, and the illegal effect it have on the society nullify any rights-management argument that can be stated against this policy.

Another aspect is that all material is on the server backup. It is thus not possible to remove the pictures, and take down You-tube accounts, to remove the material.

An investigation showed that the main URL of the site can be changed in minutes, in case the backup shall be uploaded elsewhere.

Thank you visiting the site!
