This shot show a "Plane" come in high, dive steeply towards the Towers, and den pull up strongly to reach level flight just before impact. Keep a stop-watch running, so you know where you have your plane any specified number of seconds in advance.

This take contradicts most other views and shots. Not shown live. Also check speed of plane on the live version.

This is with the explosion, without the plane.

I took the still with "the cat". There are many subliminal pictures inserted into the fire & smoke. The cat seems identical to the cat in the "no-plane" shot, the angle without a plane, that have an "orb" or flying saucer in the archive material.
